Informed Consent for EMG and NCS

Electromyography Laboratory Authorization & Consent for Testing

Electromyography (EMG) and Nerve Conduction Testing (NCS) are patient services provided in response to a wide variety of medical conditions for patients of all ages, regardless of gender, color, race, creed, national origin or disability.

The purpose of EMG/NCS testing is to evaluate the neuromuscular system and to find diseases that damage the nerves, muscles or the junctions between the nerves and muscles (neuromuscular junction).

All procedures will be thoroughly explained to you. During the NCS, mild electric currents will be applied to the skin on parts of the body. This is done to assess how quickly impulses travel in nerves and the NCS testing may be repeated on several different nerves. The EMG assesses muscle function. A fine needle electrode will be placed under your skin into the muscle being tested. The needle measures the electrical activity in your muscles and it may be repeated on several muscles. You will also be asked to contract your muscles during the EMG.

There are certain inherent risks with EMG/NCS. During EMG, you may experience some discomfort similar to an injection and may have some residual soreness and bruising for a few days. EMG may also cause false results on muscle enzyme laboratory tests and muscle biopsies. There may also be other risks depending on your medical condition; please discuss those with your referring physician or with your electromyographer. During NCS testing, you may feel a shock-like sensation as the nerve is stimulated even though the amount of voltage applied is very small. You may feel your muscles twitch. As with EMG testing, there may be other risks depending on your medical condition; please discuss those with your referring physician or with your electromyographer.

Based on the above information, I agree to cooperate fully and to participate in the procedure. I acknowledge that I have read this authorization and agree to be compliant. I acknowledge that I have had the procedure explained to me.

I agree to hold Rise Diagnostics harmless for claims or damages in connection with treatment. This is a contract between myself and Rise Diagnostics, and I understand that it is also a release of potential liability.
